CARMEL NEWS.

Miss Hattie Glover is still visiting at Mr. King's.

Mr. Coplin has moved on to Mr. Welch's farm, 28-18-26.

Mr. W. Powell was returning from town the other day and had rather an unusual experience with his team of oxen. One of them was newly broken and attempted to run away. He became so obstinate that in his endeavor to run things his own way, he broke off his mate's horns.

Owing to the dampness of the ground the spring work is rather late and everyone in the neighborhood is busy. The rush will soon be over.

Mr. Falkner and Mr. Eaton have about finished sowing Mrs. Kerr's farm.

Mr. T. Newton has built on his farm and has moved. His team looks splendid.

Mr. Joseph Smith has purchased a new drill for the spring work.

Miss E. Hudson is back home. She thinks there is no place like Carmel.

Miss McCarthy sister of Mr. Richard McCarthy arrived from the east a few days ago.

NEWS GATHERER.

COVENTRY.

Notwithstanding the busy season of the year we were pleased to see so many of the farmers and their ladies out on Friday to the Patrons of Industry organization. After the chairman and secretary took their places President Bole proceeded to organize the association and then to the election of officers. The following were elected: F. A. Coventry, Pres.; James Glenn, Vice Pres.; H. S. Dillanough, Sec. Tress; Wm. Tennent, Guide; James A. Coventry, Sentinel. After a few very interesting remarks was passed the meeting was closed with the expressed hope that Monday night's meeting would be well attended.

BOHARM JOTTINGS.

The latest is "Who's afraid?" Some say it is the correspondent and others (shame on them) say it is the editor.

The weather, being a safe subject, is all the farmers could desire and the grain is growing very rapidly.

Since the farmers have used Boles' Solution of Strychnine the gophers are very scarce.

There has been several narrow escapes this week but we dare not mention them.

Miss Jessie Rothwell, of Caron, is visiting Miss Mary Fowler.

Mr. Chas. Shepley struck a fine well of water at eighteen feet.

Rev. W. L. Clay will preach his farewell sermon at Boharm on the 27th of May.

We notice quite an improvement in our choir since they began the weekly practice.

Mr. Fred Williams, of Old Wives Lake, spent a few days in Boharm this week.

AN ABSINTHE FIEND.

John Smith, of Vancouver, Committed to Goal as Insane. Crazed Through Excessive Drinking.

On Thursday evening of last week, as announced in the TIME, a insane man jumped off the east bound passenger train near Rush Lake and although diligent search was made for him he could not be found. The conductor of Friday's train was instructed to keep a sharp lookout for this man. When the train pulled into Rush Lake he was seen sitting in the station. Conductor Gove tried to persuade him to get on the train and several passengers vainly used their persuasive powers. The man started for the prairie and it was necessary to back the train to keep pace with him. The conductor and a number of passengers followed him and endeavored to bring him back but without success. C. P. R. detective Hossack was on the train and when it was found that force had to be used the conductor sent for him. When the insane man saw Hossack approaching he took off his hat, coat and vest and boots evidently with the intention of giving the detective a run for it. Hossack was too quick for him, however, and soon had him aboard the train. On the way down the man became violent and had to be handcuffed. Dr. Turnbull and Corporal Marshall were notified to meet the train and on its arrival the unfortunate man was turned over to the care of the police. From the man's behavior it was apparent that he was not accountable for his actions. He made an attempt to break away from Marshall but was quickly overtaken and handcuffed. He was taken into the station and up into the station master's office and examined by Doctor Turnbull. At first he appeared quite rational and quiet but by 10 o'clock he was talking a month at the cross. The doctor advised the corporal to let him over night. On Saturday morning Marshall had an interview before Seymour Green, J. P., and the man was brought before him as an insane person. Dr. Turnbull gave evidence as to his examination and pronounced the man insane and suffering from delusions. Corporal Marshall testified that the man was constantly in fear of being followed by people who would try to do him an injury. On being questioned he gave his name as John Smith. He stated that he lived in Vancouver and was a real estate and insurance agent, and that he had worked for Chas. Whetham, of Vancouver, for eighteen months. His mother, he stated, was Mrs. Ann Molloy Smith, whose address was 23 Dorset St., Toronto. He had an uncle named J. R. Molloy who resided in Richmond, Va. He further stated that he was an absinthe drinker and that recently he had been arrested charged with an unmentionable crime. When he left Vancouver, he said, he had $400 in his possession but had lost the bulk of it on the road. He said that people on the train locked him in a coach and then were continually climbing on the roof and pouring down torrents of absinthe upon him. The Magistrate committed him to Regis goal to await the pleasure of the Lieutenant-Governor. Corporal Marshall took him down on Saturday night's train. As number one pulled into MacLean last Friday morning the station platform presented a novel spectacle. A large arch made of cheese-cloth had been erected and from it were suspended numerous old shoes. In place of a coping stone was a large piece of waste saturated with oil and this was blinding merrily. It was easy to guess that a marriage had taken place. The happy groom was a section foreman at Bell Plain and a charming young lady of MacLean station.

POSTAL PROGRESS.

The annual report of the Dominion Post Office Department for the past fiscal year contains a large amount of information which is of special interest as showing the growing importance of the region west of Lake Superior. At the end of the year there were 8,477 post offices in operation, which, taking the population according to the census of 1891, gives one office to every 570 persons. In the United States the proportion is about one office to every 925 persons, a very favorable comparison to Canada in respect to the accommodation offered by the post office to the people at large. The following statistical information is given for the Provincial and Territorial division west of Ontario:

	Post Offices	Miles of Post Route	Annual Travel Thereon
Dominion	8,477	61,832	30,195,733
British Columbia	219	6,055	1,300,094
Manitoba	414	8,406	2,477,937
N.W. Territories	232

During the year mail service was established on 431 miles of additional railway lines, which included 239 miles in the Northwest Territory and 5 in British Columbia. On this point the Deputy Postmaster General says:—"Among the new railways to which attention may be called is that from Calgary to Macleod. This railway brings an old settled ranching district into direct connection with the country at large. Until this line was constructed, mails for Macleod had to be carried 109 miles by railway and 30 miles by stage before they reached the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The number of miles of railway under the supervision of the Post Office Inspector at Winnipeg in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, is now greater than that in any other province, except Ontario. When it is remembered that so late as 1879, the total number of miles of railway used by the post office for conveyance of mails was only 65, some idea of the immense development in the facilities at the disposal of the department in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories may be obtained. And it must be borne in mind that the main line no longer represents the greater part of the railway mileage. Nearly 1,600 miles out of a total of 2,824 miles consists of branch lines connected with the main line, so that at this date there is no important settlement in the Northwest Territories out of reach of the main lines of communication. As might perhaps be expected from the mountainous character of the country, the extent of the coast line, and the fact that an important section of the province, including the capital, is on an island, the water services in British Columbia are of greater extent than those in any of the provinces. For the maintenance of the connection between the island and the mainland, there are touching at different points, three daily services, a tri weekly, and a weekly service. Victoria exchanges mails directly with Vancouver and Port Townsend one each way daily; with New Westminster three times per week; and with San Francisco weekly. In addition to these there is a daily service each way between Vancouver and Nanaimo. Along the Northern coast and in the Gulf of Georgia there are five services, one of which extends from Victoria to Nanaimo Harbor, 668 miles. The trips on this route are fortnightly in the summer and monthly in the winter. Of the others, two make connection weekly between Vancouver and the Gulf Islands; while a third maintains relations between Comox and these islands. In the mountainous districts of the interior of the mainland there is now established a very satisfactory system of steamboat service. The Kootenay district, of which Nelson is the centre, is served by a steamer which runs down the Columbia River from Revelstoke on the main line of the C. P. R. to Robson, where a transfer to the Columbia and Kootenay Railway takes place. From Nelson there are steamers running with a frequency corresponding to the business necessities of the places concerned, to Kaslo, Ainsworth and Pilot Bay, the principal mining settlements in the interior. For the Okanagan district, which lies south of the C. P. R. from Sicamous, satisfactory arrangements have been made for the first time this year. Until a short time ago the only means of access to that district was a stage making trips varying from weekly to monthly according to the distance from the railway. But the building of the Okanagan branch of the C. P. R., and the establishment of a steamer service on Okanagan Lake have put it within the power of the department to extend to that country facilities equal to the gross receipts."

The free delivery system of letters is in operation in Winnipeg, Man., and Victoria, B.C. The number of western money-order offices is: Manitoba 51, British Columbia 42, Northwest Territory 31. In the returns of gross postal receipts the city of Winnipeg makes an extraordinary showing. Though ninth in population among the cities of the Dominion by the last census returns its gross postal revenue for the year was no less than $93,211.56, which was only exceeded by the receipts of the Toronto and Montreal offices. The other principal offices in the west had gross receipts as follows:—Victoria, $16,841; Vancouver, $13,685; Calgary heads the list of offices in the N. W. T. with a gross revenue of $10,522.53.

THE INSOLVENCY BILL.

Several changes have been made in the Insolvency Bill by the Senate committee. The rate of composition to entitle a debtor to discharge is raised from 33 to 66 per cent. This is within 9 per cent of what would meet the views of those who insisted on a higher figure, and will have to be accepted as a reasonable compromise, however desirable it is that a higher figure should be insisted on. Incorporated trading and manufacturing companies are to come under purview of the act. In spite of objections urged against it, the farmer is to be entitled to the benefit of the act; but he is not, as at first proposed, to be allowed the option of going into insolvency himself; this precaution against abuse experience sufficiently attests in the case of traders and there is no reason to suppose that in the case of the farmer, it would never be necessary. The question of the right of a creditor to transfer book debts secretly, was discussed, and the Montreal delegates expressed themselves strongly against the practice, which is not unknown in Ontario. When it is done, the fact ought to be brought to the knowledge of all whom it concerns, otherwise a preference of which other creditors know nothing might be made; and they might make advances of goods which, if they had not known the whole truth about the condition of the debtor, they would not have made.

A PECCULAR CITY.

We know that Venice is a city without streets, without horses, except four or five bronze ones; without carriages without trees except in one garden, and without wooden houses. But there is a city that is still more peculiar than Venice. It is in Mongolia, close to the borders of Russian Siberia, and is named Maiwatchin, and is the only city in the world peopled by men only.

The Chinese women are not only forbidden to leave this territory, but even to pass the great wall of Kalkan and enter into Mongolia. All the Chinese of this border city are exclusively traders, and they accumulate money till their trading with Europe through Siberia has created a sufficient fortune to enable them to return to their native cities and live there in ease with their families. Their dwellings indicate their prosperity. They are separated from the street by a clay wall, rather ugly, it is true, but surrounding generally a very elegant-looking house, before which are gambling those sleek looking plump eves, with unusually big eyes, such as are pretty faithfully represented on Chinese vases and screens. The main part of the houses of Maiwatchin is divided into two compartments, and that which is behind is raised. Fires are kept up under this great platform, which is covered with mats that serve as seats by day and beds by night. Opposite the door a niche is generally seen where the domestic idols, unaccustomed to attitudinize to profane eyes, repose behind an ornamental blind. The walls of the reception-room are lacquered in red or black, and sometimes covered with figured silk, according to the wealth and taste of the owner. The apartment overlooking the court is generally of light wood, perforated and carved, and over these openings colored paper is stretched producing something of the graceful effect of stained glass. The idol temples are gorgeous buildings.

THE COST OF GOVERNMENT.

The United States Treasury Department has lately issued statistics which show that the cost of government has increased in a much greater ratio than does population. The pith of the Treasury's showing may be garnered from the annual tabulation:

Year.	Population.	Net Expenses.	Per capita expenditure.
1840	17,068,453	$ 24,317,570	$1.42
1850	23,191,876	39,543,492	1.71
1860	31,433,321	63,130,598	2.01
1870	33,558,371	309,653,561	8.03
1880	50,155,783	267,942,958	5.34
1890	52,622,259	318,040,710	5.07
1893	66,946,000	383,477,934	5.73

The decade ending 1870, which includes the war period, shows, of course a tremendous increase of cost per capita to the people. In 1862 the cost was $14.42 per capita; in 1863, 21.42; in 1864, $25.42, and in 1865, $37.35 per capita. It is reasonably fair to state that a large part of the great expense of to-day is due to the pension lists; but allowing liberally for these, it is still evident that the cost of the government is fully 200 per cent greater now than it was fifty years ago—an abnormal increase mainly attributable to the multiplication of offices and increase of salaries which the opulence of the nation's resources has encouraged in the last thirty years.

The Canadian Pacific railway has decided to place the Alberta and Athabasca on their lake route for the present and the Manitoba will remain tied up. The sailings of the steamers commences on Saturday, the 5th inst., when the Alberta will leave Owen Sound with a full cargo; the Athabasca sails on Wednesday, the 9th. The first steamer to leave Fort William is the Alberta on Tuesday the 8th followed by the Athabasca on the 12th. After these dates the boats sail from Owen Sound every Saturday and Wednesday, and from Fort William every Tuesday and Saturday, until further notice.

The Issue of the Day.

"Phyllis! Darling!"
There was a tremor in the full, rich, manly tones. He looked up with lessening eyes, in which the faint suspicion of a tear glimmered, at the fair, perfect type of all that could be lovely in woman that stood before him, and as he looked long, earnestly, intensely, his voice broke in a trembling treble. Outside, on the crackled path, could be heard the low, dull sough of the raindrops and the soft, plaintive gurgle of the organ grinder as he operated the crank for all there was in it, while the merriment of the masses in door to "have another one for me go home" broke upon his ears with a distinctness that made his tired head ache.

"Phyllis!"
"What is it, Clarence?" said the beautiful girl, turning the most dazzling loveliness of her face toward his, out there was no answering tremor in her voice. "Have you a pain? Perhaps a porous plaster or a pill?"

"Do you know me?" he cried, springing to his feet, while all the pent up agony that had twisted his internal economy with a giddy twist tortured his features into a awful sort of despair. "You know how madly, passionately, I love you. It is true, you are rich, and I—"

"Ow! for your last week's board," came the cold, calm, matter of fact and business like reply.

"True, also! too true, but it will not always be thus. I am young."

"And callow," chipped in the maiden.

Not noticing the interruption he continued: "I will work, earn a name for myself, and pass it on each successive rung on the ladder of fame until wealth and position are mine. For you!"

"Listen to me, Clarence Goughdropp!" and there was a cold, steady glint in her eye. "I asked you a question last night—simple everyday question that every schoolboy and schoolgirl in the land could have answered with their eyes shut—you stared at me blankly. You remember it, do you not?"

"Yes," he faltered, "I remember. It was whether I favored the League or the brotherhood."

"And you told me—told me without the shadow of a jest, but in dead earnest—that you never heard of the League or brotherhood and did not know what they meant. Is it not so?"

Clarence bowed his head. He could not speak.

"And you expect me to marry you," continued the now thoroughly aroused woman.

You! A man who confesses that he is actually ignorant of the existence of the League or brotherhood. You must think I'm a chump."

And they parted forever.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Out on the north side lives a friend of mine named Day. He has a low flat, and in the same above his lives a gentleman named Knight. The fact that there were Day and Knight in the same house never struck my friend Day. He knew Knight, who was connected with some house furnace and stove company, but neither had indulged in any punning on the contrasting names. The other day Mr. Day's door bell rang, and Mr. Day, who happened to be at home, responded to the person. He found a gentleman on the doorstep. The gentleman said:

"It's this Mr. Knight."

The gentleman called himself, as what should be, "Ah, very good, very good. Really very witty, quite a bon mot." Then he pulled from his pocket some papers and began to talk to Mr. Day about furnaces and stoves, and improvements, and extras, and a lot of other things, including profits and percentages. He rattled on so fast that before Mr. Day could pull him up he had passed the half mile pole. Then he said:

"I don't know anything about all this. What does it mean?"

"You're Knight, aren't you?"

"No, Day."

"Oh, because," said the visitor, "is that a joke? because if it is I've laughed at it already, and it won't bear repeating."

"No, about it," replied Mr. Day. "It goes—"

"Your name Day?"

"Says."

"Well, where's Knight?"

"Upstairs. Ring upper bell."

"Why didn't you say before?" snapped the visitor, as he yanked the bell almost out by its roots.

"You didn't ask me," said Mr. Day. Then he went indoors and smiled.—Chicago Mail

Too Much "Forgiving" for Him.

Senator Colquitt, of Georgia, delights in telling a story of his efforts of missionary work among the Afric Americans in the vicinity of his home. He selected as a specimen of "Unteachable" Negroes a boy who had learned to read in a very crude way, and to whom he had offered $5.00 if he would read the Bible through to the end. Gabe accepted the offer, and took away with him a brand new Bible, and began his work with the Scriptures. Two weeks later he returned, Bible in hand.

"Well, Gabe, how did you like the book?" asked Senator, to reply and was pressed.

"Yes, Senator, I tell you how it is. I do not know how to do it."

"Explain yourself. I don't catch your meaning," said the senator. "What part of the Bible did you read, Gabe?"

"I reads, sir, just to what Abraham forgives Lot, and forgives Jacob, and Jacob, his son Joseph, and don't reads no more. Ders is too much forgiving, sah to suit me."—New York Tribune.

Gold Plum Pudding.

The remains of Christmas plum pudding may be broiled in slices or converted into fritters. But a very appetizing way of disposing of them is furnished by an old English recipe. Butter a deep dish or basin well and line it with slices of cold plum pudding cut so as fit exactly together, and press them against the dish so they will adhere; and then add to them a few raisins, and add to each with a few pieces of pudding mixture that is preferred. One pint of boiling milk pour upon two ounces and a half of arrowroot, mixed smooth with a little cold milk, with the addition of four small eggs, a little ginger, a lemon, two or three bitter almonds or any flavoring desired, make a good mixture. Pour the pudding with slices of plum pudding, and have near three-quarters of an inch in a very moderate oven.

A violin fell off a Wheeling, W. Va., truck and split lengthwise. A dirty faced boy immediately sprang from nowhere, lit on one of the hemispheres, gave his face a header into its liquid depths, and, presently emerging, quavered the ecstatic remark: "It's a sloppy day when I don't get aboard!"

A never service was held recently by the congregation Seghers-Tedlin, of Orange, N. Y. It was the consecration of a scroll of the book of the law presented to the congregation. The scroll is written entirely by hand in Hebrew, upon parchment, and is eighteen inches in width and over two hundred feet in length. It contains the entire Pentateuch.

Law as She Is.
Lawyer—Who discovered America?
Witness—Some say Christopher Columbus, and some say the old Norsemen.

Lawyer—When the deceased was murdered, on the night of Feb. 1, at the corner of A and Fourth streets, were you anywhere in the neighborhood?

Witness (who was near by, saw the blow struck, knows who committed the crime and is anxious that the prisoner should be brought to justice)—I do not know what I was standing—

Opposing Counsel—I object. The words "not the corner" are too indefinite. If the witness were trying to tell the truth he would be more explicit.

Judge—This witness need not answer the question in that way.

Lawyer (to witness)—How is the weather outside?

Witness—It is raining.

Lawyer—How is the presence of large bowlers in open fields on clay and sandy soil explained?

Witness—By the ice drift theory.

Lawyer—On the night the deceased was murdered, did you hear any disturbance?

Opposing Counsel—I object.

Lawyer—Did you see anything which would lead any one to assume that a crime?

Opposing Counsel—I object.

The Court—Objections not sustained. Those are leading questions.

Lawyer—Where did you get that hat?

Witness—At Sharp, Bargain & Co's.

Lawyer—Were you near the scene of the murder when it was committed?

Witness—I was.

Opposing Counsel—I move that the testimony of this witness be stricken out.

[And so on for ten days. Verdict, "Not Guilty."—New York Weekly.

ROYAL FLUSHES.

Queen Victoria took the first prize of 10 guineas at the Birmingham cattle show with a short horn.

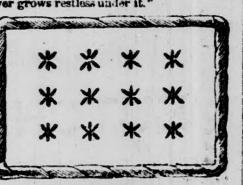

Empress Elizabeth of Austria, is affected by grief that she hates the sight of human beings and prays for death.

The czar of Russia receives from all his gold mines in eastern Siberia about 3,600 pounds of pure gold every year.

King Humbert of Italy, has inhaled so many cigarettes that his bronchial tubes have been affected. He now smokes camphor instead of tobacco smoke.

A Sensible Gift for the Baby.

The daily and convenient gift for tea services or crib is suggested as apt to be a sensible gift to the love mother of the little ones. The little quilt shown in the cut is easy to make, and as one mother says, "It is a sensible and comfortable covering." You have warmth without heaviness, and the child never grows restless under it."

PRETTY BABY QUILT.

Take two yards of cheap cloth, double it and spread a layer of wool between the two sides. Fasten carefully to hold it in place, turn in the edges of the cloth and sew them together. Tack in diamonds or squares, and use the following daisy stitch: Double a needleful of worsted; begin underneath and make a loop and catch it down at the end. Make six of these loops for the daisy, putting a bit of yellow worsted for the center. The daisies may be made of light blue or any delicate color. Finish the edge with a heavy cord of worsted matching the daisies.

A Trifle Discouraged.

Captain outward bound, to passenger—Are you feeling any better today, sir?

Passenger (discouraged)—No, worse, if anything.

Captain—Oh, you'll be all right in a day or two, so don't give up the ship.

Passenger—No, I'll hold on to the ship if I can, but by thunder, captain, I've given up about everything else.—The Epoch

Recitation Demanded.

Paternalists—Did my boy buy this white of you or did you give it to him?

Clothing Dealer—I gave it to him.

Opposite—In order to increase your trade.

Clothing Dealer (cheerfully). Yes sir.

Paternalists—Very well, I shall never ride with you again.—Lowell Citizen.

This World is but a Fleeting Show.

The old adage, "Early to bed and early to rise, makes man healthy, wealthy and wise," is a contemptible fraud. We have followed its precepts faithfully for thirty years, and where are we today? We are not feeling at all well; we are not worth a cent and we do not know very much any way.—Lowell Citizen

A Work of Patience.

A correspondent of London Notes and Queries, in 1854, made the following contention:

The following account of this truly weird specimen of human patience and skill is from a rough copy that I took some years ago. I regret that I cannot give any date for it, as I made no note of my authority which I have since recurred to.

A book of little consequence, this book is well known to bibliophiles. Perhaps the most singular bibliographic curiosity is that which belonged to the family of the Prince de Ligne, and is now in France. It is entitled "Liber Passions Domini nostri Jesu Christi, cum Caracteribus nullis materia compatis." This book is neither written nor printed. The whole letters of the text are cut out each folio upon the finest vellum, and are interwoven with blue paper, is read as easily as the best print. The labor and patience bestowed on its completion must have been excessive, especially when the precision and minuteness of the letters are considered.

The original is in the library of the Prince de Ligne, and is the most delicate and costly kind. Rodriguez II of Germany offered for it, in 1840, 11,000 ducats which was probably equal to $6,000 at that day. The most remarkable circumstance connected with this literary treasure is that it bears the royal arms of England; but it cannot be traced to have ever been in this country.

The Canadian Engineer has been enlarged twice since it started, and the first number of the new volume (May) shows an addition of twelve pages besides a portrait supplement. It has a valuable article on pumping machinery by Wm. Perry, the well-known hydraulic engineer of Montreal, and there are interesting biographical sketches with portraits of all the officers of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers. There are also numerous illustrations, more or less attractive to the mechanical mind, and a large amount of news of that is transpiring among the manufacturers of the Dominion.

Death on the Rail.

John Richardson, a cableman employed on Gilmarm's work train working out of Brandon, fell from the train on Thursday about noon and was instantly killed. Five cars passed over his body. It is supposed that, as a heavy wind blowing, the unfortunate man lost his balance and was blown off. The deceased is a brother of Thos. Richardson, section foreman at Chipping, who passed this point on last night's train to take charge of the funeral arrangements.

Could not "Do" the Printer.

The publishers of the Port Hope Gazette got judgment for $1150 and costs in the Division Court from a man who had been a subscriber in Port Hope and moved to Guelph to which address the paper was then forwarded and continued for some years. The subscriber after taking it for some years "refused" it and tried to get out of paying for the same. Judge Ketchum, of Port Hope, however, taught him a lesson on honesty and it is to be hoped others will also take the lesson it should convey, for there are people who after taking a paper some years try in some way to get out of paying for it. A man who would cheat a printer would rob a hen roost.

The Unfalling Success of Dodd's Kidney Pills Inditators to Attempt to Pass Worthless Remedies on the Public

TORONTO, May 14.—This appears to be an age of fakes and frauds. It seems impossible for a new idea or valuable invention to be made known without a host of imitators trying to foist their worthless goods on an unsuspecting public in the hope of making an unmerited profit out of their worthless ideas. The unequalled success of Dodd's Kidney Pills in curing all forms of kidney disease has led to the introduction of many cheap and base imitations that are worse than valuable. Dodd's was the first kidney remedy ever offered in pill form. For their own safety, purchasers should buy none but Dodd's Kidney Pills. Sold in large boxes; price, 50 cents per box or six boxes for $2.50. To be had of all dealers.

Mrs. Henry, the physiognomist, in her lecture on Tuesday night drew particular attention to the fact that a single vertical line between the eyebrows denotes a great desire on the part of the possessor to pay up the last cent that he owes. There are to our certain knowledge, 402 subscribers to the TIMES who are not blessed with this mark of extreme conscientiousness.

The president of the Moose Jaw Creamery Association has received a telegram from Dominion Dairy Commissioner Robertson stating that he will visit Moose Jaw on Friday, May 25th, and that he would like to meet all the patrons of the Moose Jaw Creamery. It is earnestly hoped that all the patrons will make it a point to be in town on the day in question as Prof. Robertson's visit will be an important one.

A Peculiar Request.

A Christian newspaper which does not give itself up to the comic element relates that a Dutch lawyer, named Nikoison, bequeathed the whole of his property to trustees, to be employed in the purchase of bicycles for the use of children attending school, and part of the money is to go toward paying a teacher to train the boys in bicycle riding. The validity of the will has been disputed by the sons of the testator who refuse to acknowledge it, so that it is still a question of doubt whether the children will reap the benefit of the strange bequest. That the testator was sincere enough, and that he recognized in the wheel untold blessing which might have escaped the observation of minds of less acumen, the concluding portion of the will should go to prove. It says: "I have always found a bicycle a capital protection against the opportunity of those people who persist in stopping you in your walk to spin a long yarn in the sun or in the biting east wind. My machine, unlike a horse, never tires once; and in my drives I have had no need to entrust life and limb to the tender mercies of a coachman."
